

computer is not really wise. I have an amendment which will be discussed, I hope, later on. But I would like to point out also that this bill did not come together by accident, that a number of people spent a great deal of time on this bill. There are those on this floor who would like to proclaim that they've come from the farm territory, that they represent farmers, that they speak for farmers, that they defend farmers on this floor. Let me tell you, ladies and gentlemen, either you are asleep or you have forgotten what you are doing. Check on page, about 21, has to do with the credit on capital gains. Now that is assuming, that after having had the devastation of the last seven years vested upon you, that you've got any capital gains left in your outfit, that you happen to be a family farm corporation. And read lines 16 through 21 which say all corporations issuing capital stock for which an election, under Section 10 of this act, is made, shall have at least five shareholders and at least two shareholders or groups of shareholders who are not related to each other and who own at least 10 percent of the capital stock. Now, darn it, listen. On the one hand we're saying you can't have...you can't be in the farming business if you are a corporation anymore, you can't create that kind of a corporation. On the other hand is Senator Rex Haberman, and, of course, you have to understand you have had to have been in existence at least three years, Rex, so you can't do this today and take advantage of any of these provisions. But if in the event you were a family farm corporation for three years, and you wanted to avail yourself of some of these privileges, you've just been shut out, you've just been shut out. Now I don't mind people trying to be a little pretentious, I appreciate that. I can understand it. I've been that way myself from time to time. But I do not like to have people think I don't know what is going on. And you had not better concede that either. Let me tell you, ladies and gentlemen, if I were to stand on this floor and offer an amendment to the budget bill that says we're going to pay President Roskins $2.5 million a year, and allow the faculty to muddle along at the same old level, to bring excellence to the university and prosperity to the state, I would be mobbed before I hit the west door and Senator Weihing, who spent a good part of his life at that institution, would know why. If I were to say we were going to pay the President of United Airlines $2.5 million a year, or the chief pilot $2.5 million a year, and we're going to pay the mechanics minimum wage, and we're going to bring excellence to the airline, how many would even want to get on the aircraft, notwithstanding you had a 10,000 hour pilot? No one, because you know the mechanic is going to foul up your equipment. Now
